JEROME NOT READY TO ACT IN THAW'S CASE

If Committed as Insane He May Still Stand Trial in Future.

(Special to The Evening World.)
ATLANTA, Ga., July 18.—"What I would do in the event a commission was appointed to pass upon the sanity of Harry Thaw would depend entirely upon the facts that the defendant would set forth in the affidavit upon which the motion for an appointment of this

This is what District-Attorney Jerome said to-day when told that a commission would be asked for to pass upon the sanity of Harry Thaw.

"I could not now say whether or not a could not now say whether or not not now say whether or not now say whether or not not now say whether or not not now say whether or now say whether or not now say whether or not now say whether or not now say whether or now say whether o

I would opose such a move," Mr. Jenome continued. "All would depend upon what Thaw and his counsel would be able to set up in their affidavit. If I did not think the facts justified the move; of course it would be my duty as District Attorney to oppose it. It is a matter that cannot now be determined and will not be until I return to New Fork and ascertain what grounds are established for this commission. The court of trial is the final arbiter of the matter. That is, even though the commission mugit find the defendant was not now of sound mind it would lay in the tower of the court to set aside the Endings and order the prisoner for to trial.

"If the commission finds the defendant makes and the summing should be send to the sould be send to the would be held in confinement and the would be held in confinement and the end of his material for the insane where he would be held in confinement and the end of his material fire, unless he secure again become same. In the jutter event he would havenity be ordered to stand trial for the crime as if nothing had happened."

EIGHT BOYS BITTEN BY A MONGREL DOG

Snapping Beast Is Chased for Several Blocks and Shot Dead by Policeman.

After biting eight buys in West Houston street this afternoon a small mongrel dog, which was frothing at the mouth, was chased several blocks by Patroiman Freek Gallagher, of the Charles street station, who shot it dead in front of No. 418 Houston street.

The boys were playing the game known as "cut" when the excited, probably overheated dog appeared. They when it turned and snapped at most of them. Of the eight boys known to have been bitten, James Reilly, eleven years old of No. 67 Carmine street, and Peter Carmine street, were the most serious! unother boy, were dressed by a drug The other boys who were bitten

Policeman Gallagher, hearing the commoduon, ran down Houston street, chased the excited animal through a number of side streets and on Houston street, corriered him between an ashoan and a door stoop and grabbed film by the throat.
